Convergence Media Major – Journalism Concentration

The Journalism concentration equips students for success in the modern media landscape by requiring students to develop effective skills in traditional journalistic forms such as writing, broadcasting and photography as well as skills in cutting-edge digital, graphic and web-based formats. In addition to the 30-hour block of core courses required for the Convergence Media major, students opting for the Journalism concentration are required to take 24 hours of courses including:

- JN 302 – News Editing
- JN 305 – Broadcast News
- JN 315 - Photojournalism
- JN 400 – Journalism Capstone Project
- Six (6) hours of production labs (JN 184/284/384/484)

Students additionally select six (6) hours from among the following choices:

- JN 301 – Advanced Newswriting
- JN 309 – Editorial Journalism
- JN 326 – Desktop Publishing
- JN 327 – Advanced Broadcast Reporting
- JN 341 – History of Journalism
- JN 352 – Advanced Videography
- JN 436 – Sports Journalism
- TH 220 – Voice and Articulation
- MP 268 – Intro to Film Production
- CM 450 – Convergence Media Seminar

Contact Info
For those seeking additional information about the Department’s Journalism program, please contact Mr. Alan Quartemont, Convergence Media Curriculum Coordinator and Journalism Concentration Advisor, at quartemont@lacollege.edu or call: (318) 487-7597.